RHEUMATISM CURED.
DR. LEWIS' Nerve and Bone Liniment and Indian Vegetable Elixir, is the only certain and effectual remedy for Rheumatism, Gout, Contracted Joints, &c. In the most severe cases the above application was never known to fail. We can multiply a volume of testimonials to these facts, but prefer to have persons call where the above may be had, and where they can see such proofs of its efficacy, that would convince the most incredulous.

REDUCTION FOURFOLD IN PRICES—OR NOTHING.
An article that every family must consider indispensable, when they know its power and value, and which has heretofore been sold too high to bring to all classes, is now being reduced fourfold in price, with such rich and poor, high and low, and in fact every body being made to enjoy its comforts; and all who get it shall have the price returned to them if they are not delighted with its use. We assert, without the possibility of contradiction, that all burns and scalds, every external sore, old or fresh, and all external pains and aches, no matter where, shall be reduced to comfort by it in five minutes—saving life, limb or scar. No cure can be fatal if this is applied, unless the vital are destroyed by the accident. It is truly magical, in appearance, in its effects. Enquire for "Connell's Magical Pain Extractor," at Comstock & Co's, 21 Cortland street. Price 25 cents, or four times as much for 50 cents, and ten times as much for $1.

THE SICK HEADACHE.
THIS DISEASE is one from which arises more misery to the human family than is generally supposed; not being directly fatal, it is often neglected, or persons resort so much to the use of purgatives and other medicines as to impair their general health, and often induce fatal diseases. The article—Dr. Spohn's HEADACHE REMEDY, now offered seems to have overcome these difficulties. While its effects are most powerful and immediate in curing an attack or keeping it off, it is so perfectly mild and innocent as to be used for infants with the greatest effect and safety. This has now been tested by so many of the highest members of this community as to require no further proof.

TO THE OLD AND YOUNG.
HO! YE RED HEADS AND GREY!
PHENOMENON IN CHEMISTRY.
EAST INDIA HAIR DYE.
Colors the Hair, and will not the Skin

THIS Dye is in form of a powder, which is plain matter of fact may be applied to the hair over night, the first night turning the lightest RED or GREY HAIR to a dark brown, and by repeating a second or third night to a bright jet black. Any person may, therefore, with the least possible trouble, keep his hair any dark shade or perfect black; with a positive assurance that the powder, if applied to the skin, will not color it. By an occasional application, a person turning grey will never be known to have a grey hair. Directions complete with the article. There is no coloring in this statement, as one can easily test.

These facts are warranted by the gentleman who manufactures it, who is the celebrated Chemist, DR. COMSTOCK, author of Comstock's Chemistry, Philosophy, and other works, and School Books, well known and widely celebrated by the public.

THE BOSTON ALMANAC, FOR 1844.
BY S. N. DICKINSON.

WILL be ready for purchasers in the early part of December. Orders first received, will meet with the first attention. It will contain A CLASSIFIED DIRECTORY, OF ALL THE BUSINESS PEOPLE AND FIRMS IN THE CITY, Alphabetically arranged under each business, or profession. The advantages of such a Directory consist, in bringing to a point, from all parts of the city, the names of all persons engaged in each particular business. For instance, in a small compass, under the head of Hardware Dealers, will be found the names and places of business of all who deal in that commodity. So of Dry Goods, Leather, Furniture, Iron, Hats, Hosiery, etc., etc., etc.—all so arranged, that the reader may see, at a glance, the names of all those who are dealers in any one article. A variety of other useful and interesting matter will be found in this little volume. It will contain 25 or 30 pages more than heretofore, and be printed throughout on a new and beautiful Ruby Type, cut in Edinburgh, and obtained expressly for this work. The Calendar pages, as usual, will contain space for memoranda for each day in the year. It will be handsomely and substantially bound in cloth, and sold as usual, at 25 cents per copy. Orders may be sent to the Proprietor, S. N. DICKINSON, 62 Washington Street, or to Messrs. THOMAS GROOM & CO., 82 State Street. In either case they will meet with prompt attention.

THE PILES AND ALOES.
HAY'S LINIMENT is known now to thousands, as a most extraordinary remedy for these afflictions. It is impossible to tell in a newspaper, in such a manner, as to obtain full credence, the effects and benefits of this article, so general is the practice of advertisers of extolling articles of no merit. Such personal reference will be given, as to bring conviction to the minds of the most unbelieving. Will sufferers only ask among their friends, if they have not heard or known its effects; and if they do not hear it more warmly praised than any other salve, let them not get it.—All fancy or exaggeration is positively excluded from the statements, and it is determined to say nothing of its merits, but what could be fully proved by a host of witnesses, in any court of justice. MISCELLANEOUS.

THE CHRISTIAN'S HOPE IN DEATH.—A sermon occasioned by the death of DIA. JOHN FARRINGTON, Oct. 22, 1843. By J. R. Munsell, Pastor of the Congregational Church, East Brewer. Published by request. Bangor; Printed by Smith & Sayward.

This is an excellent discourse, and partakes largely of the practical, pungent and direct home appeals, for which the author is justly noted.—We are always well pleased with discourses suggested by the life and character of any of the worthy fathers of the church, the state, or the social circle. We always gather from them wholesome suggestions for the guidance of our steps through life. Deacon Farrington was indeed a religious and social Patriarch—a man of influence and of worth. We have partaken of his hospitality and enjoyed the social delights of his home. We have heard from his own lips a narrative of what the early settlers on the Penobscot endured. These incidents have given us a keen relish for the following account, which we copy from the sermon:—

"Dea. JOHN FARRINGTON was a native of Wrentham, Mass. He was born Oct. 20th, 1736. In 1776 he entered the army of the Revolution, and served at different periods during the war. He was married in 1783, and settled in what is now called the town of Brewer, Me. Several times he was chosen representative to the General Court, before the separation of this State from Massachusetts. He made a public profession of Christianity in 1808; soon after was appointed Deacon of the Congregational Church, the duties of which office he discharged with great fidelity, until his spirit was called, as we trust, to a higher sphere of action in the Church triumphant; which occurred September 30, 1843.

In his youth, he was strictly educated a puritan. Impressions then made—principles then adopted—had an abiding and controlling influence over his whole life. He has in great kindness been permitted to live to represent to this generation, the real worth of the primitive New England character. Possessing an uncommon degree of vivacity, and much practical knowledge, he was the centre of interest to a great circle of friends. The gravity of age, and the vivacity of youth, mingled so happily in his character, that all classes sought and enjoyed his society. His energy of character, was of the first order. He could always make for himself a theatre of action. Being just one of those men who would break into the forest, and grapple with those privations, and hardships, and labors incident to new settlements. He never enjoyed life better than when applying to the utmost his physical energies. And, truly, but few have done more than he has, in changing the wilderness into a fruitful field; as many have witnessed in sharing his kind hospitalities, at his home plantation. These active habits of industry and economy, made his last days useful, cheerful and happy. Idleness, he ever regarded as a great sin—a prolific source of evils. He set a high value upon time, as it related, both to the purposes of this life and that which is to come. As a Christian he was consistent and faithful. His residence was both meeting house and vestry for years, and ever a welcome home to the minister of the gospel. According to his means, he was liberal in supporting the institutions of religion. Because his property was the effects of hard labor, and wretched industry, he did not count it too good to be expended, in the cause of his divine Lord and master; or, if adverse providences thwarted his expectations, he would not withhold his pecuniary aid from the cause of Christ, to repair his losses. In this he was a Christian from principle. His religious character was developed, in a most lovely manner, in his family. He made the resolution of Joshua his own, "as for me, and my house, we will serve the Lord." For this, "his children will rise up, and call him blessed, to the third and fourth generation." All under his influence were taught, and encouraged, to advise and do liberally that the gospel might be published at home and abroad. His religion was not graduated by that rule of doing no more than exactly his share with his brethren.

But to have the gospel supported; he was willing to endure the labor and heat of the day, that the word of life might be published in the sanctuary. But, when deprived of a stated ministry, he was active in sustaining meetings of the church. For years, he conducted such services with great interest and fidelity. He was truly a pillar, in this branch of Zion. Though the infirmities of age, sometimes kept him from the Sanctuary, it was evident, his dearest associations were with the Church. Its purity, and consistency, much engrossed his thoughts. His prayer was fervent, that Zion might arise and shine. He saw the necessity of more grace—With all the ardor of youth, he kept up with the spirit of the age in the benevolent movements of the day. The Boston Recorder brought him weekly, the news of Zion, which he read with unabating interest to the last days of his life. He lived with delight every fulfillment of the promise of the world's conversion. On this subject his prayers and aims went up as a memorial before God, showing the genuineness of his hope in Christ, and his ardent desire that the world might be full of the glory of the Lord. This valuable man and worthy Christian, died as might be expected, with a firm trust in God. He suffered a protracted illness for several months, occasioned by a prevailing influenza. His naturally firm constitution resisted the disease, so that strong hopes were entertained that he would finally recover, and still live to bless the world. But at length, the disease assumed a more malignant form, and suddenly, though reluctantly, the body yielded up the powers of life. But the soul, during the whole struggle of nature, was calm in God. In death, his hope in Christ, manifested itself more in submission, than in ecstasy. The light was clear, but not brilliant. He had a most vivid sense of his own nothingness before God. Language seemed to fail of strength, to describe his own unworthiness, and the exalted nature of the divine character. Seldom has it been our privilege to witness an instance, where a hope in Christ, was seen more clearly to be all of grace. With the prayer, that God would add such an unworthy creature to himself, through the atoning blood of Christ, he calmly fell asleep in death. In this bereavement not only a large family of children and grand-children mourn their loss, but the whole church and neighborhood, with one consent, unite their sympathies, and mourn with them, the loss of a father and a friend. Long has he stood to us in the relation of a patriarch, and long may we revere his memory, and imitate his virtues. In his life and death, he has borne practical testimony of the value of a hope in Christ. May we faithfully apply our hearts unto wisdom, and enjoy a good hope, living and dying. This was the fervent prayer and last request of our venerable father. May it be answered upon us and our children.

The Withed Wheel.
In the evening, seated around a clear blazing fire, we were all in fine spirits, and the current of conversation flowed on brisk and free. Among other topics that came up, was that of the vanity of our neighbors. As is usual, we were all sharp sighted enough to see, and ready enough to condemn this sin in others. One anecdote after another was related, illustrative of the disposition of men to make a vain show, which excited no little merriment in all except one venerable gray haired old gentleman who took no part in our gossip. At last one of the company mentioned the case of a farmer whose business required him to drive a cart, somewhat the worse for wear, several times a day past his minister's door. It so happened that one of its wheels was broken, and teched up with stout hickory withes, making a very uncouth appearance, and, withal, a loud creaking at every turn.

Desirous, like the rest of the world, of saying appearances, and having (as was very common fifty years ago, in New England, where this happened) a high regard for his minister's opinion, this farmer was in the habit of changing his wheels at every turn, so as to bring the sound wheel before his pastor's front door as he passed. A boisterous laugh followed the narration of this anecdote. Then, either because no one had a better story to tell, or because our merriment had expended itself, or because the silence of the old gentleman in the corner was construed into a rebuke of our tattling propensities, a solemn pause ensued. Desirous of relieving the company from their embarrassment, and, at the same time, of expressing my regard for the feelings of our aged friend, I broke the silence by saying—
"Mr.—, you are unusually reserved this evening. Perhaps our topic of conversation does not please you."

"I was thinking," replied the old man, with a countenance and tone full of meaning, "that we are all too much in the habit of changing our withed wheel."
"Another long pause followed, accompanied with stolen glances from one of the party to another, which betrayed not a little confusion.— Thus the old gentleman seemed vastly to enjoy, as indicating that his well directed shot had taken effect.

"A great many very reputable professors of religion," resumed the old man, "have their withed wheel which they put on the other side of the cart every time they go to a prayer-meeting. Out of the prayer-meeting they are right in their deportment, worldly in their conversation and conduct, and loose in their practice.— They talk and act like men that are engrossed with the pursuit of this world's good. But, when they go to the prayer-meeting, they change their withed wheel; that is, they put on their religious face, and exhort and pray like men that are very deeply interested in God's service. But as soon as the meeting is over, back goes the wheel to its old place. Now, why should such persons laugh at this poor farmer's attempt at vain show when they are themselves guilty of an ostentation infinitely more foolish and wicked?"

Here followed another pause, in which the old gentleman was evidently gathering his force for a still stronger charge.
"I have observed," continued he at length, addressing himself to several young clergymen opposite to him, who, perhaps from the idea that their profession demanded it, had been unmercifully severe on the sin of ostentation, as exhibited in the conduct of others, "that some ministers, when called upon to preach before an assembly of their brother ministers, will ramrack their whole pile of sermons from beginning to end, and, after having culled out the very best that it affords, will begin by apologizing for their want of suitable preparation.—They had not thought of being called upon: their performance must be very hasty and ill-digested: they trust that the audience will make due allowance, &c."—What is this but putting the withed wheel away from the minister's door? But to no purpose, for its creaking betrays it after all their pains to put it on the off side."
The good old gentleman ceased, and I for one, felt greatly edified by this short sermon, and determined to bear it in mind, whenever I should be tempted to make myself merry over the ostentation of my neighbors.—Ohio Obs.

Animal Magnetism.

The following sketch of the remarks of Wm. Paine, Esq., on the subject of Animal Magnetism, in his lecture before the Lyceum, will so completely satisfy the determined unbelievers and disbelievers in animal magnetism, and withal there is so much fun in the matter, we think the remarks will afford pleasure to all our readers.

To those who love to find good in every thing there is no difficulty in disposing of the most unpromising subject, and accordingly, having an eye to those who are too young to attend the Lyceum, I would send Clairvoyance home to play at blind-man's buff with the children. And for fear that this Robin Goodfellow might otherwise lose his way or break his neck in the dark, he should go home blindfold. We all persist in calling this the most enlightened age that ever was; either because it is really so, or because it is the only one of all the ages that has come to the honor of our own particular acquaintance. For such an age was it reserved to discover the art not only of seeing without eyes, but of seeing infinitely farther and better without, than with them; nay, more, of seeing things, which, in the ignorance of former eyes, have been called invisible, such as thoughts, the thoughts of others, and other things which they never thought of. Charming, captivating science! No wonder that we open our mouths, shut our eyes and swallow,—head, horns and cloven foot,—a doctrine, which, if we could only digest it, would make us wiser than the fallen or the faithful angels. If there is any truth in it we shall soon have daily bulletins, every morning from the sun, and every evening from the moon; books and stationery from the fixed stars, and strawberries and cream from the milky way. But there is no end to the inventive genius of man! What shall we do with this other sapless twig of Animal Magnetism which some are trying to graft, with soft solder, upon the dead stump, or, at least, a dead branch, of Phrenology. The fruit must be delicious—when it bears any. This graft they call Neurology, or Phreno-Magnetism. Phobos! what a long name our science is blessed with! Let us cut it in two. Phrenos was originally "of the mind," or, "of wisdom"; but its only lineal descendant in our language is phrensy. Hence we arrive at the good English synonym of Animal Magnetism—run-mad, as other animals do, but they get over it or die, while this will do neither, but still runs, biting, through the land. This definition is, however, as pretty a pleonasm as it would be to speak of an insane bedlamite, or an irrational system of witchcraft. Since authority is the chief thing relied upon by its advocates, reason being excluded, ex vi termini, I will endeavor prop up my heresy by one out of many authorities against it. Long before Bangor was deluged with this subtle fluid, in June, 1841, at a meeting of the French Academy of Science, it was resolved by a large majority of the Academicians that they would hear no more of this mysterious science, and that, as the Academy had come to the conclusion to proceed at once to the order of the day, whenever the question respecting the quadrature of the circle, or that of perpetual motion was brought forward, they would deal in the same way with the subject of Animal Magnetism. Thus has it died the second death in France, for it was there that Franklin and his associates gave it the "coup de grace," more than half a century ago. Yet, after the second death, its remains are brought to this country, galvanized, and exhibited as a living wonder.—But what can you do when a believing friend whom you respect, inquires whether you believe in Animal Magnetism? You are strongly tempted to say yes, by way of escaping a flood of modern instances; but your conscience won't let you: and as to saying no, you have too often experienced the overwhelming consequence to risk that again. For our relief in this dilemma, there is a very convenient Turkish formula: "Allah knows what is good!" So says the Grand Mufti, the chief minister of religion and law in Turkey, when too hard a question is submitted for his decision. Then let this be the answer, "Allah knows what is good, as says the Grand Mufti!" To run after shadows is childish, to run from them is cowardly, and to fight them, ignominious. I think that a compromise, satisfactory to all parties, might be had on this basis, that we shall have no more public exhibitions of the thing, and that whoever is fond of the sport may fish on his own hook and catch if he can, the infinitesimal something, the illusive minnow, which is said to lurk somewhere in the windings of this turbid stream. Perhaps it may turn out a trout, perhaps turn out a sucker. I believe that it belongs to the class of microscopic animals and is that curious animalcule which lives in the viscous substance that adheres to the inside of a glass vessel where fishes are kept. It is translucent, without eyes, and has the power of changing its figure at pleasure, being sometimes extended to an immoderate length, at others, contracted to a point one moment inflated to a sphere, the next completely flaccid. It is called the Proteus diffusus. The Proteus of Homer and Virgil was larger but otherwise similar:

Secure he lies
And leaden slumbers press his drooping eyes.
Rushing impetuous forth we straight prepare
A curious onset, with the sound of war,
And shouting seize the god: our force to evade,
His various arts he soon resumes in aid:
A lion now, he curls a surgy mane,
Sudden our hands a spotted pard restrain,
On spiny volumes, next, a dragon rides,
Here from our strict embrace, a serpent glides;
And last, sublime, his stately growth he rears
A tree, and well dissembled foliage wears.

Thus says Homer, according to Pope, and here is a passage of Dryden's Virgil, showing what took place after Proteus was thoroughly magnetized:

Rash youth! what frenzy urged thy impious feet
To rush unbidden on my lone retreat.
Proteus, full well thou know'st, the youth replies,
Vain were the hope to blind thy searching eyes:
As vain thy strife, by Heaven's directing will
I claim relief from thy prophetic skill.
He said, and filled with rage, the struggling sire
Roll'd his blue eyes that flash'd indignant fire;
From his pale lip reluctant accents broke,
Load gnash'd his teeth and thus the prophet spoke.
The last four lines are rather loosely translated. The original gives us a better picture of the magnetizer than of his victim:

Ad huc vates viduque multa
Ardentes oculos intorsit lumine glauco;
Et graviter frendens, sic fatus ora resolvit.
Laterally thus,
The prophet then with all his might,
Hurl'd from his eyes a strong blue light,
And set his teeth with aspect stern,
The grand result I could not learn;
I saw one laugh, another cry.
But both agreed 'twas all in the eye.

To the Mechanics of Maine.

It will be recollected that at the Mechanics State Convention held at Gardiner, a Committee was appointed to issue proposals for publishing in the city of Bangor a monthly Periodical devoted to the interests of the Mechanics of Maine. That Committee have attended to their duty so far as to issue printed proposals. A sufficient time has elapsed for those in the different parts of the State to whom the circulars were sent to make their report. Several persons, who have interested themselves in this enterprise have forwarded to the Committee the names of persons in their respective neighborhoods who wish to take the publication referred to and who express their willingness to pay for the same for one year upon the reception of the first number. The indications appear favorable for commencing the publication of a monthly periodical that will be highly useful, of a salutary character and worthy the support of the Mechanics of this State.

It is desirable that all the names of subscribers should be forwarded to the Committee through the several Post Masters, in order that the first number of the work may be immediately issued should a sufficient number of persons have subscribed to warrant the continuation of the work for one year.

It is not essential that the money should accompany the names of subscribers but it is quite desirable that the name of no person should be sent to the Committee upon whom they cannot rely for the payment of one dollar upon the receipt of the first number.

This subject is respectfully urged upon the attention of the several Mechanic Associations in the State and upon Mechanics generally. The work will contain addresses delivered before Mechanic Associations and interesting proceedings of those bodies—the number and condition of these societies, the names of their officers &c. It will be earnestly engaged in developing the best method of self and mutual cultivation among the practical men of the age. It will be free from political and party interest and will labor not for partial but for general and important ends.

The Committee have the assurance of a large number of contributors to the pages of the work of persons residing in the State and of contributions from Eliza Burritt, Esq., of Worcester Massachusetts.

After the lapse of sufficient time for the returns to come in the Committee will decide, either to commence the publication of the work or to abandon the enterprise and report accordingly to the next State Convention.

At the request of the Committee we have made this call in behalf of the proposed publication and trust that by the vigorous efforts of the friends of this enterprise its publication may be commenced because if fairly commenced we have no doubt of its being continued and strengthened, and made to exert a happy influence in society.

We learn that some of our thoughtful and benevolent women, have, for some time past, during the cold weather, been picking up partially worn clothing and cast off garments of their children, and, after putting them in good order, handed them to the teachers of our primary schools. Much substantial comfort has thus been promoted, and real good conferred on worthy children. This is a capital, and, withal, a cheap and effectual way of doing good and of encouraging children to attend school. We would suggest whether more of this business could not be done to good advantage.

The Charleston (S. C.) Mercury says of the coming Democratic Baltimore Convention, "As to the National Convention we have never desired its existence, and therefore care precious little whether it is composed of Men or of Monkeys."

The man who stole Pomroy's Express Trunk is likely to be discovered after all. A clue has been obtained to the perpetrator of the offence, and possibly by the time this meets the eyes of our readers, the whole skein may be unravelled.

DAILY MARRA for Christian Pilgrims, by Baron Stow. "Thy words were found, and I did eat them."—Jer. XV.—16. Boston; Gould, Kendall, & Lincoln, 1844.

A neat and delicately finished little book with the above title has been laid upon our table by Mr. E. F. Duren. As may be inferred from the title, there is a selection from Scripture for each day in the year. Then follows a short commentary, by way of application, each commentary concluding with a stanza of poetry. The design of the work commends it to the attention of the Christian community.

For sale at Duren's.

The Madisonian says in reply to the New York Commercial Advertiser, who sets down Texan annexation as a humbug, that "humbog or not, Texas will be annexed to the United States, and so will Oregon."

The Bath Telegraph and the Wiscasset Republican are squabbling in a personal fight.—The same is the case between the Hallowell Cultivator and the Yankee Blade. We like to see good spunk and fair play, but in the instances we have mentioned the warfare is grossly personal, and carried on in most execrable taste. If half that is insinuated be true, let the truth come out flat-footed and unmistakable, and the matter can then be easily settled.

Not a single Whig member from the non slave holding States voted in favor of retaining the 21st Rule, commonly called the "Gag Rule," while twenty-nine loco focos from the non-slave holding States voted in favor of retaining it.—The friends of Liberty would do well to compare the votes of Whigs with those of the Locos, and they will then be able to ascertain who their true friends are.

A Distressing Case.

The St. John, N. B. Chronicle states that on Thursday night the 14th inst., Mrs. Stackhouse, living on the N. West branch of Salmon River, in company with a boy went into the woods in that vicinity to meet her husband, who was then employed lumbering. Night was fast closing in, and becoming bewildered, she lost her way, and continued to wander until near morning; the weather was severely cold; she then fell with exhaustion, and expired.—The poor boy found his way home in the morning, severely frozen; search was made for the body, when it was discovered within a short distance of the place from which she had first set out, although it was in a quarter of a mile of the encampment, and thinking she had passed it, unfortunately attempted to return and seek the path she supposed she had lost. Mrs. Stackhouse has left a helping family of four children, the youngest of whom is only 16 months of age.

Cotton Canvass.

There was received last week by the house of Representatives a Report of the Secretary of the Navy in answer to a resolution of inquiry as to the fitness of cotton canvass for sails, &c.

Commodore Kennon, the chief of the Bureau of Construction and Equipment, says:

"All experience condemns cotton canvass for sails of ships of war. It is only fit for boat sails, hammocks, bags &c., and for such purposes it is now used in the Navy."

It is unfit for sails of ships, because it mildews easily, because it does not last so long as flax, and the whole sail gives way at once—because it is more liable than flax to take fire in action from a lighted wad—and because when wet, it is very stiff and unbandied.

The Documents were ordered to be printed.

Naval Monument at Mount Auburn.

We learn from the Boston Mercantile Journal that a beautiful marble cenotaph has been erected at Mount Auburn, by the officers and scientific corps of our National Exploring Expedition, in honor of four gentlemen who lost their lives in that service. These were Lieut. Underwood and Midshipman Henry, who were killed by savages on one of the Fiji Islands, and Passed Midshipman Reid and Bacon, who were lost at sea off Cape Horn. It is an honor to the gentlemen who have erected this monument, that they have thus remembered their unfortunate companions. The Journal says:—"This cenotaph is an Egyptian obelisk, 22 feet high, and four feet at the base, erected at a cost of $2000. The design is by Mr. Drayton of the scientific corps, and is in the finest style of pure, simple, monumental beauty. The execution by Struthers & Sons of Philadelphia, is worthy of the design."

A bear which had for some time past been confined in a yard, near the corner of Jackson and Villere streets, broke loose yesterday morning, and attacked a little girl in the street. Before assistance could be rendered, the child was so dreadfully mangled and torn, that she died in consequence. A number of men attacked the bear with axes, &c., and at last despatched him. N. O. ### 'Serenade.'

A PATHETIC BALLAD.

Oh wake! the wind sighs low, my love,
The vale sleeps low in mist;
Oh wake! my heart is woe, my love,
Till ye arise and list.

'Tis something like a mile, my love,
I've dashed through damp and dew,
O'er hedgrow, ditch and stile, my love,
With a tender song for you.

So wake, for well you know, my love,
My temper's none the best,
And as to patience, oh! my love,
I cannot say I'm blest.

The clock is striking one, my love,
Low hangs the dew filled cup,
My song will soon be done, my love,
So up! fond lady, up!

What! sleep ye yet so soundly, love,
You jade, you! won't you rise!
While here I sing—confound ye, love,
To beetles, knats and flies.

Well! then from high grass now, my love,
My exit I will make,
Yet, first through sash and glass, my love,
This gentle brickbat take.

Exit serenader, whistling
"High Betty Martin." Quiz.

Rail Road from Portland to Bath.

We are glad to learn that measures are being taken to establish forthwith, a Rail Road from this place to Portland, connecting with the Rail Road from that city to Boston. A very large meeting of the citizens of this town was held at the town Hall on Friday, to take the matter into consideration. Col. Thomas D. Robinson was chosen Chairman, and a committee of fifteen was chosen to petition the Legislature for a charter—confer with other towns upon the subject—cause the route to be surveyed, and take any other measures deemed advisable to accomplish the object. The committee consists of the following named gentlemen:—George F. Patten, Thos. D. Robinson, John Patten, Levi Houghton, Joseph Sewall, Wm. Richardson, Henry Tallman, William D. Sewall, Oliver Moses, Charles Crocker, Thomas Harwood, Wm. Rogers, James McLellan, James H. McLellan, and Benj. Randall.

We have reason now to believe that something will be done, which will sooner or later bring this thing about. The gentlemen interested in it are fully capable in every respect to carry the project through. Our town is awake upon the subject, and the time is not far distant when we shall find ourselves connected with the whole Southern country by means of a Rail Road.—Bath Enquirer.

Temperance.

At a meeting of the Bangor Prudential Committee of the Bangor Temperance Association, it was resolved, That they "recommend to the Association a stated course of meetings for the purpose of Lectures, discussions and the collection and dissemination of facts in relation to Temperance."

The Association will meet at the City Hall on Monday Evening, January 1, 1844, on which occasion, it is expected that several gentlemen will address the meeting.

It is to be hoped that the hall will be filled; and that an interest will be awakened in the great cause of temperance, and a new impulse given to its operations.

Per order of the Prudential Com.

CLEANLINESS OF THE HEAD AND HAIR.
STRANGE it is that persons who attend strictly to personal cleanliness, baths, &c., should neglect the head—the hair—the most essential—the most exposed—and the most beautiful, when properly cared for, of all the gifts of the Creator. Perfectly free may it be kept of dandruff or scurf, with a certainty that the hair cannot fall out, by the use of the BALM OF COLUMBIA. Ladies will you make your toilet without this article? I answer fearlessly no, if you have once tried and experienced its purifying effects—sweet perfume.

COUGHS, COLDS, &c.
COUGHS, Colds, Spitting of Blood, Asthma, and all complaints of the chest, lungs and liver, will be cured by the Extract of Lungwort, when all else fails. This we assert without fear of the least contradiction. Besides, it does not require the false certificate of the panaceas, balsams and candies, to induce invalids to use this great lung restorative. One trial will convince the sceptical, that its virtues are far above price. To be found only, at G. W. LADD'S, corner of Smith's Block, West Market Place.

LORRAINE'S PILLS,
OR VEGETABLE UNIVERSAL MEDICINE,
CURATIVE OF THE
French College of Health, in Paris.
The following letter is given as another evidence of the great success of Lorraine's Vegetable Universal Pills.
Sir—I have been for many years a sufferer from the ravages of Scrofula and Cancerous Humors, which at last seated on the vitals, and exhibited all the threatening symptoms of consumption. The general inability of all remedies awakened my enquiries as to the thousand different methods of cure, to most of which I had recourse without receiving benefit. I accidentally noticed a remarkable cure by Lorraine's Pills, and was induced to give them a trial. I sent to Boston and got a box. By the use of them I found immediate relief and was soon restored to a perfect state of health.
J. E. NEWHALL.
Salem, 21st May, 1841.
The following letter from J. B. Light, Esq. is worthy of notice.
Sir—I took one of Lorraine's Vegetable Pills last evening for a pain in my head, that had effected me for several days, occasioned by taking cold. I soon felt very calm, and quiet, and a state of general repose came on, which had great charms, and I enjoyed one of the most comfortable and refreshing nights rest that I ever did in my life. I rose in the morning in my usual state of health, and believe it is my duty to recommend this medicine.
Yours truly, J. B. LIGHT.
Nov. 20th, 1841.

[From Boston Daily Mail.]
Somebody wisely says, that a head loaded with evils and flowers will not cure the headache, nor gold chains prevent the consumption. Lorraine's Vegetable Pills have done both.
Sir—I have been effectually cured of a severe headache by the use of Lorraine's Pills.
SARAH NOYES.
Sir—My daughter had all the threatening symptoms of a Consumption, such as cough, pain in the side, &c., together with general debility, but has had her health restored by Lorraine's Pills.
Rev. J. KNIGHT.
New York City, Nov. 1, 1841.

Family Medicine.
Sir—I have used Lorraine's Pills in my family as family medicine, and I would most earnestly recommend them to all persons, as the best medicine that can be procured. I would not be without them—they operate mildly, and never fail to give immediate relief. Until I used these Pills I was obliged to pay from 25 to $100 per year for medicines and physicians, since then I have had no other doctor than Dr. Lorraine's Pills. JAMES NEAL.
Hartford, Conn. July 8.

Lame Back.
Sarah Snow was cured of a lame back in one day, when she had been unable to dress herself alone for two weeks.
Susan Jones of Boston, cured in 36 hours of lame back and side of three weeks standing.
Sick Headache.
Mrs. Bird of Providence says, that 'Lorraine's Pills have proved a real blessing to her. It has surpassed any thing that has been brought to the public notice. I have been cured of a sick headache that had afflicted me for years, by the use of Lorraine's Pills.

THE CONDITION.
The condition upon which nature gives health to man, is a watchful care to keep his stomach and bowels free from morbid and unhealthy accumulations. Lorraine's Pills admirably effect this, because they cleanse the bowels and purify the blood. The human body is always healthy when the bowels are regular, the blood circulates freely, and disease invariably commences when obstructions take place in the bowels.
The extraordinary virtues of Lorraine's Pills depends upon extracts of over 50 different vegetables, all so admirably combined as to purify, nourish and invigorate the human system.

DEAFNESS.
DR. McNAIR'S ACUSTIC OIL.
THOSE DEAF FROM INFANCY often receive in the most miraculous manner their hearing when they least expect it by some trifling accident or event, which shows them how easily they might have much sooner had their hearing, and saved themselves and their friends the pain of conversing in a loud tone, without pleasure, or of being neglected and shunned to avoid that distress which is felt mutually by the deaf person and his hearers. How sacred a duty, therefore, it is that we use all necessary means to remove such an affliction, and enjoy the social qualities implanted in our nature! This EAR OIL has the effect so to relieve the tension, and bring into use the natural action of the parts, as to restore the hearing when lost or impaired. For sale by G. W. LADD.

SANDS' SARSAPARILLA.
FOR THE REMOVAL OF PERMANENT CURE OF ALL DISEASES ARISING FROM AN IMPURE STATE OF THE BLOOD, OR HABIT OF THE SYSTEM.
NAMESLY:
Scrofula, or King's Evil, rheumatism, obstinate cutaneous eruptions, pimples, or pustules on the face, blotches, biles, chronic sore eyes, ring worm or tetter, scald head, enlargement and pain of the bones and joints, stubborn ulcers, syphilitic symptoms, sciatica, or lumbago, and diseases arising from an injudicious use of the mercury, ascites, or dropsy, exposure or imprudence in life. Also, chronic constitutional disorders will be removed by this preparation.
The proprietors submit to the public the following certificate, from a highly respectable source, of a cure made by using their preparation of Sarsaparilla, which cannot but have the effect of placing beyond all doubt the curative powers of the medicine.
New York, August 3, 1842.
Messrs. Sands—Gentlemen: Under a feeling sense of gratitude inherent to us all when suddenly relieved from suffering and disease, I now, as an act of justice due to you, and with a view of relieving the afflicted, make known to the world the inestimable benefit I have received from the use of your Sarsaparilla. In the year 1832 I sailed from England in a vessel bound for Quebec, and while on the passage first discovered the disease which after proved to be a sore affliction, and truly I can say, 'from the crown of my head to the sole of my foot there was no soundness in me.' From the time first mentioned down until the present, a period of more than ten years, I have suffered all that human nature was capable of bearing. I have been under the care of the most distinguished physicians both in this country and in England, visited Bath, Cheltenham, Bristol and Gloucester, tried various specifics, among others a large quantity of Swain's Panacea, used sulphur baths, &c. As a last resort I was induced to wrap myself in a tar ointment, keep myself secluded, shunned by all, myself also shunning. I was induced to believe my case a hopeless one.
In August last, by the advice of friends, I went to the New York City Hospital. But was there told that my case was incurable. The disease now enveloped my whole body, rendering me almost helpless; the skin thickened and cracked, and blood and matter ran, and life itself became almost a burden. A few weeks since I was induced to use your Sarsaparilla by hearing it so highly recommended, having spent nearly $3,000 without obtaining but little relief. After using it a short time, I found myself better, and now, by using six or eight bottles, costing me less than ten dollars, I am well. Yes, I certify and declare to the world, that after spending near $3,000 in traveling and doctoring, and suffering more than can be told, I was perfectly cured by using your invaluable preparation of Sarsaparilla; and I now recommend it to all similarly afflicted. Those wishing to know further particulars will find me at my residence, No. 27 Warren street, New York, where I shall be happy to communicate any thing in relation to the above cure.
PAUL BURDOCK.
Prepared and sold by A. B. SANDS & Co. Druggists and Chemists, Granite Buildings, 273 Broadway, corner of Chambers street, New York. And for sale by Druggists throughout the United States. Price $1 per bottle, six bottles for $5.
The public are respectfully requested to remember that it is Sands' Sarsaparilla that has and is constantly achieving such remarkable cures of the most difficult class of diseases to which the human frame is subject, and ask for Sands' Sarsaparilla, and take no other.
